WHY ARE YOU RUNNING FOR CITY COUNCIL?

I am running for Mayor of Brandon because I believe our city has tremendous potential, and I want to help turn that potential into opportunity for everyone who calls Brandon home.

Throughout my years of public service and community involvement, I have seen what can be accomplished when people work together, set clear priorities and focus on getting things done. I have also learned that progress rarely happens when we work in isolation. As Mayor, I will work collaboratively with City Council, our municipal staff, the provincial and federal governments, businesses, community organizations and, most importantly, the people of Brandon.

Brandon needs leadership that listens. That means hearing the concerns of residents, understanding the challenges facing families, seniors, businesses and community organizations, and being prepared to act on good ideas. I want residents to know that their voices matter, their ideas matter and their future matters.

I am running because I want to help build a stronger, more prosperous and more vibrant Brandon. We need to encourage economic growth and investment, support local businesses, attract new opportunities and create an environment where families and employers want to put down roots. At the same time, we must ensure that growth is responsible and that municipal services and infrastructure keep pace with the needs of our growing community.

I believe my experience working with different levels of government and bringing people together to achieve results can help Brandon move forward.

This campaign is not about one person. It is about our city and the future we can build together.

I have called Brandon my home for 64 years, and while I have seen many changes and improvements, I believe Brandon's best days can be ahead of us—and I want to work with you to make that future a reality.
