mpac Municipal Property Assessment Corporation™ School Support Designation FAQ

Am I required to designate school support even if I don't have children?
Yes. All property owners in Ontario are required to designate school support, even if you do not have children, or your children are not currently attending school. By default, your school support is directed to the English-Public school board unless you've chosen otherwise.

Where can I find my school support information?
As a property owner, your school support designation is listed on your Property Assessment Notice and in MPAC AboutMyProperty™.

As a tenant, you can check your current designation with MPAC's online portal for tenants.

Provide input on Almonte's wastewater treatment system expansion project at the PIC, October 7, 2026

The Municipality is ready to welcome you to our third Public Information Centre (PIC) for the Almonte Wastewater Treatment System and Pump Station Expansion Project, on Wednesday, October 7, 2026, from 2 to 8 p.m. at Almonte Old Town Hall.

This PIC will have presentation boards with information on the project, with staff available for discussion and questions. New information at this PIC will include preferred alternatives for upgrades to the Gemmill's Bay Pump Station and the Wastewater Treatment Plant. A method for evaluating each alternative project and the results from the Municipality's evaluation on the preferred alternatives will also be presented. Each alternative project represents a potential path forward for the Municipality to manage sanitary sewage and septage.

PICs are an important part of the Environmental Assessment process, ensuring projects are completed with care. Everyone is encouraged to attend to learn more about how decisions are made and to help shape the future of Almonte through your participation in the discussions.

Living on your own for the first time? Know your rights, responsibilities, and how to stay safe!

New students, take notes—this is for you. While it will not be on your exam, knowing your rights and responsibilities for smoke and carbon monoxide (CO) alarms are essential knowledge to keep you safe.

It is your landlord's legal duty to install and maintain working smoke and CO alarms where they are required. Ontario law requires a smoke alarm outside of every sleeping area and on every storey of the building. CO detectors are also required in the same areas if the building has an attached garage or a fuel-burning appliance (such as a gas stove, gas furnace, a fireplace, and so on).

Your legal responsibility as a tenant is to report any operational issues to your landlord, and you must never disable any alarms (such as by taking out the battery).

Let your landlord know if you are missing any alarms, require new batteries, or need an expired alarm replaced (every 10 years).

For email templates on contacting your landlord, safety checklists, tips, and other resources, visit www.savedbythebeep.ca

CO Awareness Week: New CO alarm rules in 2026

Do you know the new carbon monoxide (CO) alarm rules? This CO Awareness Week (November 1 to 7), take a moment to familiarize yourself with the new rules that came into effect in 2026.

Previously, CO alarms were only required outside of all sleeping areas in homes with fuel-burning appliances, fireplaces, or attached garages. Now, this requirement has expanded to include CO alarms on all storeys of homes that contain fuel-fired appliances (such as a gas stove or a gas furnace), fireplaces, attached garages, or receive heated air from a fuel-fired appliance located outside the home (such as in a utility shed). Yes, this means even storeys without a sleeping area require CO alarms.

CO is a odorless, colourless, deadly gas that causes poisoning within minutes. While you yourself will not smell or see CO, the CO alarm will know when it is present. Expanding the CO alarm requirements ensures families are protected from unintentional poisoning no matter where they are in the building.

For information on CO alarm maintenance and more, visit www.Ontario.ca/CarbonMonoxide.

Progress on the Heritage Designation List

Over the past year, Municipal staff and the Heritage Advisory Committee have been working to evaluate properties on the Heritage Register, which is a formal listing of properties to be considered for designation under the Ontario Heritage Act. Due to provincial mandates, the Municipality must decide to either designate the properties listed on the Heritage Register or remove them before the end of 2026. There were originally 15 properties lists on the Heritage Register. Currently, eight properties have been designated, and four properties have been removed from the Heritage Register.

There are seven key steps to designating an individual property under Part IV of the Ontario Heritage Act. These steps include:

- Identify the property as a candidate for designation
- Research and evaluate the property
- Serve a Notice of Intention to designation, with an opportunity for objection
- Pass the designation by-law
- Appeal periods and coming into force
- Update the information on the municipal Heritage Register list
- Include the property on the Ontario Heritage Trust Register

To learn more about the heritage buildings in Mississippi Mills, visit www.mississippimills.ca/Heritage.

There will be vacancies on the Heritage Advisory Committee for the 2026-2030 term! Learn more: www.mississippimills.ca/committees

Messages from Public Works

What is roadside brushing, and why is it important?

Roadside brushing is a routine maintenance program that removes overgrown trees, shrubs and other vegetation from municipal road allowances. This work helps keep roads safe and supports ongoing road maintenance.

Roadside brushing provides several benefits, including:

- Improved road safety by enhancing sightlines and removing potential hazards
- Vegetation control to prevent encroachment onto roadways and shoulders
- Protection of road infrastructure by reducing moisture retention and helping prevent ice buildup that can damage the road base
- Support for winter maintenance by providing space for snow storage during plowing operations

The Municipality acknowledges that brushed areas may look different immediately after the work is completed, but roadside vegetation will naturally regenerate and is typically well established again within a year.

A coat of cheerful sunshine for the children's area at the MMPL Almonte Branch

A fresh new look has arrived for the Almonte Branch, with the children's area being painted for the first time in 16 years. Fittingly named Banana Yellow, Citrus Blast, and Simply White, the chosen colours are intended to make the space more welcoming and playful for everyone at the library.

Upgrades to the library do not end there! Functional improvements are coming next, with new shelving and slat walls being installed in October, and new furniture and decorations to follow soon after.

Upgrades like these are made possible thanks to generous donations collected by the Friends of the Mississippi Mills Public Library, capital budget funding through the Municipality of Mississippi Mills, and community support. The upcoming slat walls will be a direct result of a $2,200 donation from the Mississippi Mills Film Society.

To everyone involved who made this possible, thank you. To anyone yet to see the new space, come in for a visit! We cannot wait for you to experience the joy colour can bring to an environment.

For more information on donations, visit www.missmillslibrary.com/donating-to-the-library

Experience the future: Free robotics workshops at MMPL

Register online today! Workshop sizes are small (eight spots), ensuring every child has an optimal learning environment.

We gratefully acknowledge the Elizabeth Kelly Foundation for their generous financial support, making programs like this possible.

Build and read - Blanket Fort City Makers (age 11+)

Spend Fridays in October planning a blanket fort city—a live performance event where youth aged 11+ will read stories to little audience members in blanket forts hidden throughout the library.

The Blanket Fort City Makers will choose books to read aloud, practice how best to read them, design and build a blanket fort to fit their book's theme, and then run the event.

Makers must be able to attend all four prep sessions, then host the event. Spots are limited, so please register to share the love of reading in your own creative way.
