

O-NET, SNDL and Data Centres: Understanding the Differences

We don't have all the information on data centre development yet, but we want to share what we can to help keep everyone informed.

Some have drawn comparisons between data centres and past decisions involving O-NET and the Sundial cannabis plant closure. These are separate issues with very different histories and the lessons from both have shaped how the Town approaches major development today. Find out more at engage.olds.ca.
