Monday Art Group

In the spring of 2022 Marg Lake posted an article in the 507 Express inviting anyone interested in painting or creating in other artistic media to form a group at the Cavendish Community Centre. Thus began the Monday Art Group which now continues to meet every Monday morning from 9 to 12 in the main hall. Members bring their own art tools and supplies and work on their own creations. There is no formal instruction but we there to encourage, support and provide constructive criticism with each other. There is no cost to join us. Coffee is available and members often bring treats to share. Members work in all different skill levels using such media as watercolour, acrylics, oils, graphite and charcoal, mixed media, pen and ink, and photography. We do not hold an annual show but currently we have a display in the main hall of the Cavendish Community Centre of some of our creations and invite people to view our work. We are a small group and are hoping to attract new members! Winter will be upon us soon and creating art in an inviting nonthreatening environment amongst really welcoming people makes the cold weather almost disappear.

Currently our members include:

Susan Artym, Bonita Baker, Maryann Griffin, Becky Hofstetter, Marg Lake, Kaarina Luoma, Ellen Mistelbacher, Sharon Myatt, and Kelly White.

If you wish more information, or wish to join us you can email Marg Lake at mlake62@bell.net.

Cavendish Community Ratepayer's Association Inc. (CCRAI) Abandoned Dock Initiative Project Completion

The Cavendish Community Ratepayers Association Inc. (CCRAI) led an unprecedented multi association initiative to remove abandoned docks across the Catchacoma – Mississauga lake system this summer to address a rapidly escalating environmental threat. As Styrofoam floats and docks deteriorate and fragment into micro pollutants, they harm wildlife, degrade water quality, and damage the riparian shoreline essential to long term lake health.

The associations and organizations that were supporting and were active participants in this project included; Catchacoma Cottagers Association, Mississauga District Cottagers Association, Beaver, Cavendish, Bottle McGinnis Cottage Owners Organization, Gold Lake, Trent Lakes Environmental Advisory Committee, Curve Lake First Nations, Ministry of Natural Resources, Ministry of the Environment, Conservation and Parks, Kawartha Highlands Signature Site Park, Little Gull Marina, Catchacoma Marina, and Trent Lakes Waste Management

Approximately 2000 volunteer hours in this project with over 250 people participating in some way, shape or form helped to remove 132 docks from Lakes Catchacoma, Mississauga, Beaver, Cavendish, McGinnis and Gold. They also removed many stray Styrofoam chunks, hundreds of loose dock boards, stray plastic barrels, half of a sail boat, two front metal pontoons and frame from a barge, a house front entrance door, metal posts, metal angle irons, metal bed frames, plastic chairs, plastic pails, plastic dock floats and yards of polypropylene rope.

In all, 22 – 40-yard disposal bins equalling 75.53 tonnes of dock debris, equalling about 16000 Sq Ft of docking was taken away to be properly disposed of. We initially forecasted that we would remove up to 45 docks with a cost of $15,300 and we removed 132 docks at a cost of $35,048.18.

To follow this environmental effort, we will continue to develop ongoing education literature on proper dock disposal and socialize the fact that abandoning a dock on crown land is a provincial offence under the "Public Lands Act" and carries fines of up to $25,000.00. IT is also frowned upon by your neighbors and other property owners on the lake system

In addition, we are developing a playbook from our lessons learned that we can share with other lakes that may want to utilize and benefit from. We will also continue to work with MTL Waste Management on potential options for future dock disposal and measures to prevent repeat occurrences.

We would like to thank all the volunteers that helped out in a wide variety of ways, both big and small, participating in this community initiative.

We want to thank everyone that made a financial donation to the GoFundMe campaign or the CCRAI to support this environmental initiative in the community. A big thanks to the local businesses that participated in and supported this environmental initiative in our community. A huge thank you to everyone that has made a commitment that this was a onetime initiative and will not be required to be repeated in the future.

We also want to thank The Municipality of Trent Lakes Council and Staff for supporting this initiative on behalf of the property owners, cottagers and he community.

KPR Code of Conduct Procedures

Signage

Signs will be posted at school entrances directing visitors to begin their visit at the school office. Signage will also reflect the behavioural expectations outlined within the Provincial Code of Conduct.

Search and Seizure

In alignment with the Police/School Board Protocol (2016), school authorities have the right to search student school and personal property (e.g., lockers, desks, purses, backpacks, pockets, etc.) without permission and without prior notice. This would normally only occur when the person in authority felt there were reasonable grounds for suspicion that the student had something in their possession that either posed a possible risk of harm to others at the school (e.g., drugs, a weapon, etc.) or was stolen. Police may be contacted if the search reveals any such item.

Violent Threat Risk Assessment - Fair Notice

When student behaviours pose a potential threat to safety or may cause serious harm, the Kawartha Pine Ridge District School Board's Violent Threat Risk Assessment Protocol helps principals take immediate steps to protect student well-being, with the support of local agencies and police services. Parents and guardians will be notified in advance if their child will be assessed through the VTRA Protocol. If parents/guardians cannot be reached, or if they choose not to provide consent, and a concern for safety still exists due to threatening behaviour, the threat assessment may still proceed.

Lakelands Public Health and Community Partners Offer Reduced-Cost Rabies Clinic

Regional clinics are setup to support animal health ensuring pets remain protected.

(September 8, 2026) – Lakelands Public Health is gearing up for its fall campaign of reduced-cost rabies vaccination clinics. Partnering with local animal welfare organizations and veterinary clinics across the regions, this initiative ensures pets are protected, while reducing financial barriers for pet owners. This in turn protects the health of the public in our region through prevention of rabies.

“For many residents, pets provide friendship, comfort, and companionship every day, but there is a financial stress for some pet owners,” said Richard Ovcharovich, Manager of Environmental Health with Lakelands Public Health. “These reduced-rate rabies vaccination clinics make it easier for pet owners to keep their animals healthy and protected from rabies, while supporting a safer community for everyone.”

While human cases are extremely rare in Canada thanks to prevention in animals and management of human exposures, rabies still kills an estimated 59,000 people worldwide. World Rabies Day will be held September 28th to raise awareness and improve prevention. Rabies is a preventable but fatal viral disease that affects the nervous system of mammals, including humans. While bats, raccoons, skunks, and foxes are the wildlife species most linked to rabies in Ontario, unvaccinated pets and livestock can also become infected. Exposure can occur through bites, scratches, or contact between infected saliva and broken skin or other vulnerable areas of the body. Keeping pets vaccinated is one of the most effective ways to protect animals, their owners, and the community from rabies.

Under Ontario Regulation 567 of the Health Protection and Promotion Act, all cats, dogs, and ferrets must be vaccinated against rabies at three months of age and remain up to date with regular vaccination throughout their lives.

Reduced-cost rabies vaccination clinics will be offered at the following locations:

- September 19 | 2 p.m. – 3:30 p.m. | Cardiff Community Center - Hosted by Dr. Hima
- September 19 | 10 a.m. – 11:30 a.m. | Wilberforce Community Center - Hosted by Dr. Himan
- October 2 | 9:30 a.m. – 5 p.m. | Pine Ridge Veterinary Clinic
- October 3 | 9 a.m. – 11 a.m. | Presqu’île Animal Hospital*
- October 3 | 9 a.m. – 12 p.m. | Omemee Veterinary Hospital
- October 3 | 9 a.m. – 12 p.m. | Fenelon Animal Clinic
- October 3 | 10 a.m. – 2 p.m. | Alderville First Nation Community Centre*
- October 17 | 9 a.m. – 12 p.m. | Lakelfield Animal Welfare Society*

*Clinic also offers microchipping

The reduce rate for the rabies vaccine is $40 and some clinics are also offering microchipping at a reduced rate ranging between $40-$60. When attending a clinic, dogs must be leashed and cats must be in carriers or otherwise securely restrained. Owners should bring proof of previous rabies vaccination if available.

CARBON MONOXIDE ALARM RULES

EXISTING HOMES

Attention Homeowners & Landlords,

New Safety Requirements Starting January 1, 2026

Carbon monoxide (CO) is an invisible, odourless, and deadly gas. Keeping your family safe means ensuring you have working CO alarms properly installed in your home.

New requirements are coming into effect on January 1, 2026, that expand where CO alarms must be placed in existing homes.

Where Do the New Requirements Apply?

The updated requirements apply to all existing homes that have any of the following:

- A fuel-burning appliance (like a furnace, water heater, or stove that uses natural gas, propane, oil, or wood).
- A fireplace.
- An attached garage.

- Effective Jan 1, 2026: Air for heating that comes from a fuel-burning appliance not contained within the home (e.g., an appliance in a utility shed).

Common types of homes include:

- Detached or Semi-Detached Houses
- Townhouses
- Cottages

Where Must CO Alarms Be Installed?

If your home meets any of the conditions above, you must install a CO alarm in these two locations:

1. Adjacent to each sleeping area (near all bedrooms).
2. Effective Jan 1, 2026: On every storey (floor) of your home, including storeys that do not have a sleeping area.

Buying and Installing Your CO Alarms

Buying

When buying a CO alarm, make sure it has the logo of a recognized standards testing agency to ensure they meet Canadian performance standards. Some examples of recognized standards testing agencies and their logos include:

- Canadian Standards Association (CSA)
- Underwriters Laboratories of Canada (ULC)
- Intertek (ETL)

- Under the Fire Code, carbon monoxide alarms are permitted to be:
 - Hardwired (connected directly to an electrical system).
 - Battery-operated (portable or permanently mounted).
 - Plug-in devices (plugs into a standard electrical outlet).
- Many devices on the market are combined units that include both a smoke alarm and carbon monoxide alarm in one device.

Installing

- Follow the manufacturer's instructions for installation and placement of CO alarms.

Who is Responsible for Compliance?

- In Owner-Occupied homes, the Homeowner is responsible for complying with the CO alarm requirements in the Fire Code.
- In Rental Homes, the Landlord is responsible for complying with the CO alarm requirements in the Fire Code.

Thank You to Cavendish's Mighty Bakers!

This year 28 women, men, tweens and teenagers took the time and trouble on hot and humid July days and nights to slave over their even hotter kitchen ovens producing the beautiful and delicious baked goodies we all admired at Carnival. As a result, the rest of us bought and quickly devoured their efforts.

And that generated record receipts from the sale – all money that contributes to paying for the Community Centre's running expenses and programming. (We will not mention the extra pounds on our bodies also generated!)

Next time you play in or on the grounds of the Community Centre, remember to say a little thank you to those talented volunteers.

COMPREHENSIVE ZONING BYLAW (CZB)

Do not skip this section!!

What, you may ask, is the “Comprehensive Zoning Bylaw”? It is the set of requirements adopted for the promotion of public health and safety, land use compatibility and general welfare.
AND, It just may be the most important Bylaw affecting you, your family, and the next generation. Why? :

Because the CZB, as we know it, dictates

How land may be used -
What can be built in specific areas (zones) of the municipality

Where buildings and other structures can be located -
How close to the lot lines, How close to the water, lot coverage

The lot sizes and dimensions, parking requirements, building heights and setbacks from the street

The types of buildings that are permitted and how they may be used -
How large or tall they can be, Can they be used for habitation, storage, work area, gym, etc., How many

What studies and plans are required

What site alterations are permitted

What is required for septic and water

And more....

The Municipality is working with a consultant to rewrite the Comprehensive Zoning Bylaw. Staff and the consultant have flagged 21 preliminary issues that need to be addressed in the revision.

Here is a selection of the ones that affect most residents:

- Natural Heritage System mapping and regulations
- Regulations for Home Occupations and Industries
- Additional Residential Units, Increased Residential Density
- Boat houses and Docks
- Waterfront Lot Coverage
- Waterfront Development
- Barriers to Growth
- Minimum Dwelling Unit Size
- Accessory Building Uses
- Review of Trailer Park regulations
- Use of Unopened Road and Shore Road allowances
- Road setbacks

Most importantly, there is a need to make the new Bylaw shorter, user-friendly, and self-explanatory.

WHAT CAN YOU DO?

Go to the website:

<https://www.trentlakes.ca/news/posts/comprehensive-zoning-by-law-review/>

Comment on the proposed changes once they are posted.

Attend the Open House – Date TBD

Why Did Your Family Come to Cavendish? Part 1

Lumbering

Last fall, Marie Windover talked about the lumber industry in Cavendish at our Helen Bowen Library. She told us that pretty well all the original settler families came to Cavendish to work in the lumber business. What's more, it was clear that some much more recent residents' families came for the same reason.

For example, Galway and Cavendish Councillor Joe Cadigan reports that, shortly after WWII, "My father, Bob Cadigan, worked in a local lumber camp with Clarion Windover. My uncle Joe Cadigan was paralyzed in a tree-felling accident around the same time."

He continues "I moved to Catchacoma with my wife Tami and our two sons in 1995. We built our dream home on property purchased from my wife's family, the Weitzels. Our motivation was to get out of the city and raise our children in this community."

But It's Not Just Lumbering: Sometimes It's Love!

However, some of us came for other reasons. In at least 1 case it was love.

In 1955, Lillian Sobel, a very young elementary school teacher, got a job near Victoria Park and Lawrence. But she lived near Christie and Bloor. And, of course, she had no car. If you think that would be a challenging commute today, you have no idea what it involved then. Toronto's only subway ran from Eglinton to Union Station along Yonge St. Both Lawrence and Eglinton ran east and west of the Don Valley, but not across it. And Victoria Park Avenue was not cut through to the Danforth.

But Lillian was undaunted. When she learned that Ted Given, another teacher at the school, was driving other teachers to the subway, she offered to pay if he would drive her. It was a deal.

According to Lillian, Ted never did accept her money but, as the weeks passed, he drove her closer and closer to her home. Then came the day that he drove her to her house and so she introduced him to her parents. Soon, they got together away from the school and she met some of his friends.

One of those friends was Fritz Mistelbacher and, in due course, he suggested that Ted visit him at his cottage on Cavendish Lake and bring Lillian along. Of course, when they got there, Fritz told Ted to take Lillian out in the boat and show her all the delightful nearby sights.

Lillian enjoyed the boat ride and happily agreed to land near a big hill on the west side of Beaver Lake so they could stretch their legs. There was a small cottage nearby, but they stuck to the hill side. And then, much to Lillian's amazement, Ted suddenly proposed to her.

Well, Lillian thought that she really liked him so why not? At the time, she thought his proposal was a spontaneous event brought on by the circumstances, but now neither she nor her family (nor anyone else) doubts that it was a setup – planned by Fritz and Ted. And so, they married in June of 1956.

After about 3 years, Ted learned (probably from Fritz) that the little cottage next to "their" hill side was for sale. So, of course, they bought it. Ted died in 2023, but Lillian and her daughter Jacqui Given spend as much of their summers there as they can manage. In addition, Lillian's other daughter Gill comes from England with her family every year for part of the summer.

And There Were Other Reasons

I already know some of the other stories (including my own family's), but I'm looking for more! So, let me know – why did your family come to Cavendish?

What is the Canadian Anti-Fraud Centre?

The Canadian Anti-Fraud Centre (CAFC) is Canada's central repository for data, intelligence and resource material that relates to fraud. Although the CAFC does not conduct investigations, it does provide valuable assistance to law enforcement agencies all over the world by identifying connections among seemingly unrelated cases. It is jointly managed by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the Competition Bureau Canada and the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP).

Reporting

If you are in an emergency situation, dial 9-1-1.

The first step is to report the fraud to your local police service. If your local police service is the OPP, use the detachment locator to find your nearest detachment.

You have different options to report a fraud to your local police, depending on where you live.

- Report in-person by attending your local police service
- Report over the phone by calling your local police service

You are also encouraged to report the incident to the Canadian Anti-Fraud Centre (CAFC) through the online Fraud Reporting System. You can also contact the CAFC toll free by calling 1-888-495-8501,

What to do if you're a victim of fraud

- Stay calm. Gather all information about the fraud, including:
 - documents
 - receipts
 - copies of emails and/or text messages
- Contact your financial institutions
 - Report the incident to the financial institution that transferred the money.
 - If you're a victim of identity fraud:

- ask to have flags placed on all of your accounts
- change all of your passwords
- report the fraud to both credit bureaus (Equifax and TransUnion)
- Report to the police and to CAFC

What do I need in order to report fraud?

- Personal identification that may have been provided during the fraud.
- Any supporting documents related to the fraud, including any you provided. (i.e. receipts, correspondence, financial documents/statements, emails, social media information).
- A detailed chronology of the events related to the fraud.

What happens after I report?

- The police may request a detailed statement of the incident.
- Ensure you obtain a file/report number associated to the police report and contact information for the officer, should you have additional information to provide.
- The officer will keep you updated on the status of the investigation.
- It is important to remember that a fraud investigation may take considerable time and resources to investigate.

Why should I report to the police?

Reporting fraud makes police aware of ongoing fraud trends targeting people across the province. This provides the police with information to notify the public of potential fraud risks. The police are able to focus crime prevention efforts and resources to best protect the community.

Why should I report to the Canadian Anti-Fraud Centre (CAFC)?

Members of the public who have experienced fraud are encouraged to report to the CAFC. Through the reports that they receive, the CAFC provides support to law enforcement by sharing information relating to frauds occurring in Ontario. This information assists preventing Ontario

ELECTRICAL SAFETY FACTSHEET:
Extension cords, power bars and multi-tap receptacles

Misuse of extension cords, power bars and multi-tap receptacles has contributed to increasing reports of electrical fires and fatalities in Ontario. Consumers are encouraged to use these devices safely and follow these tips

- Select the appropriate device for the purpose. Not all cords, power bars or receptacles are created equal. Manufacturers generally do not recommend cords for appliances that generate heat, and some cannot be used in wet locations. Also, most cords are not designed to be used for long periods of time with heavy loads, especially when left unattended or overnight.
- Check the rating of the cord before its use. Always follow manufacturers' instructions as they will indicate how many device or type of device allowed in the plug.
- Use only certified products with recognized approval marks. See esasafe.com for a full list.
- Ensure cords are free of kinks, exposed wires and other damage.
- Use only light load appliances with multi-cord and multi-tap receptacles.
- Unwind extension cords from its spool to allow heat to escape when in use.
- Do not use flexible extension cords for permanent applications. Most extension cords

- require venting when used to cool the cable down when plugged in.
- Do not overload the device. Plugging in appliances that draw a lot of load to multi cord extension cords or multi-tap receptacles will result in overheating resulting in fire.
- Do not use an extension cords for portable heaters or air conditioning units; most cords will overheat and catch fire.
- Do not place extension cords under carpet or under furniture. Carpet do not allow cords to cool down, and can overheat and catch fire.
- Flexible extension cords must never take the place of permanent wiring. They are not designed for permanent installations – the insulation is not as good as permanent wiring, thus can lead to over-heating and fire.
- Some retailers and/or manufacturers publish guidelines on cord selection, including recommended length for type of appliance.
